De Bortoli

De Bortoli Wines is an exciting, innovative family owned wine company. The winemaking team is overseen by third generation winemaker Darren De Bortoli and his brother-in-law Steve Webber who is married to Leanne De Bortoli. The dynamic duo has been responsible for many winemaking innovations and developments. Darren De Bortoli is the creator of the world acclaimed Noble One. Steve Webber established the Yarra Valley winery, the King Valley vineyards and oversees the Hunter Valley winery and vineyards.

The winemaking philosophy is that great wine begins in the vineyard and that the winemaker should use minimal handling and interference in the winery. Wine should have a sense of regionality and be an expression of the soil in which it is grown. Our winemakers strive to create wines that they find interesting and exciting - wines that may be quirky or unusual but wines that above all have provenance and a sense of place.

De Bortoli has wineries in diverse wine growing regions, each with its own regional style, as well as vineyards in the King Valley. The Bilbul winery produces the acclaimed Noble One, world class fortified wines and premium varietal and sparkling wines. The relatively cool climate Yarra Valley is known for the classic varieties Chardonnay, Pinot Noir, Cabernet Sauvignon, Shiraz, Sauvignon, Riesling and Viognier. The Yarra Valley winery also boasts an award winning restaurant and a cheese maturation room. The Hunter Valley is famous for its distinctive Semillon and Shiraz styles which have character, personality and the ability to age gracefully. The King Valley is rapidly developing a reputation for its Mediterranean varietal wines including Sangiovese, Tempranillo and Pinot Grigio.

Premium Fortified Wines

De Bortoli Wines has an extensive collection of very old fortified wine stocks maturing in barrel. The winemakers draw on these stocks to blend Old Boys Tawny (average age 21 years), 8 Year Old Tawny, Show Liqueur Muscat and the unique Black Noble.

Black Noble is made from botrytised Semillon that is fortified and aged in old oak barrels in a solera system. Created by Darren De Bortoli, it was inspired by a 1930s wine made by Vittorio De Bortoli. The original base wine for Black Noble came from some 1972 material made by Deen De Bortoli in an early attempt to make a Noble One style.

Black Noble is extraordinarily complex, richly textured and luscious finishing with length and balance.

Noble One

Created by Darren De Bortoli in 1982, for more than 20 years, Noble One has been regarded as Australia's benchmark dessert wine. Darren, a fan of French Sauternes recognised the potential to make a dessert wine from grapes affected by botrytis cinerea or 'Noble Rot' in the Riverina, where the family wine company is based. The wine created a sensation when it was released and has become one of world's most highly awarded and sought after wines.

McLaren Vale, South Australia

Aramis Winery

McLaren Vale

David Mills has grown up in vineyards, he is third generation McLaren Vale and is a genuine expert in the field of viticulture. Experience has been gained in Langhorne Creek and McLaren Vale. David has been involved in the establishment of vineyards from the very beginning. His knowledge of the vineyard is paramount, with meticulous management and his tireless commitment provides the ultimate production of fruit of the highest standard.

Constant management of soil moisture and disease control is practiced. Controlled watering is the preferred method of watering at Aramis Vineyards. David monitors disease on a day to day basis, whether it be spraying for protection against botrytis one day to checking for bugs the next. Disease control is paramount to the vineyards overall health. The yield of the vineyard is determined mainly by the method and know how of pruning. The best way to prune a vineyard is by hand, ARAMIS will only do what is best for the vineyard. Up until there 3rd year the grapes were picked by hand, this is for the preservation of the vine. Once strong enough the grapes are picked with a harvester.

Adelaide Hills, Southern Australia
Deviation Road Winery

Deviation Road winery was created by Hamish Laurie using the fruit from the Lenswood family vineyards that used to go into Hillstowe's wines. In 2000 Kate joined him and the pair have been making the wine together ever since.

Kate obtained her winemaking degree from the Lycee Viticole d'Avize, in Champagne France in 1997. The next 4 vintages saw her working with her father, Syd, at Stone Bridge in another cool climate Manjimup, WA. Here she specialized in producing premium, bottle fermented and aged sparkling. The first Deviation Road Sparkling will be released in a couple of years, and she is now also focusing on mastering Pinot Gris.

Hamish continues a five-generation family tradition, started by his great great grandmother, Mary Laurie, who was South Australia's first female winemaker. Hamish joined his father, Dr Chris Laurie in 1992 to help build the family's Hillstowe Winery into a significant Adelaide Hills label, where he worked for 8 years until it was sold in 2000. Prior to that he worked in wine sales and export for Negociants Australia, which gave him many important insights into the domestic and overseas wine markets.

Penola, South Australia
St. Mary's Wines

Just 15km west of the township of Penola is the family-owned business of St. Mary's Vineyard. Run by Barry Mulligan and his wife Glenya, with management and winemaking help from sons Ian and Robin, it has been owned by the Mulligan family since 1937. In 1986, St. Mary's was planted to Cabernet Sauvignon, Shiraz, Chardonnay, and Riesling, with an area of Merlot and Petit Verdot grapevines established at a later stage. Because it possesses the classic "terra rossa" soil, St. Mary's produces the prototype Coonawarra style – with one huge catch. Its pricing is significantly less than many of its neighbors to the east. Very few Coonawarra designated wineries can produce this quality at this price.

This extreme southeastern section of South Australia, referred to as the Limestone Coast, is truly one of Australia's viticulture gems. Within the overall Limestone Coast zone is the world famous Coonawarra area and Penola regions. Lying almost midway between Adelaide and Melbourne, it is an extremely isolated area in a country based on isolation. It is defined by its unique geology and geography and has a distinctive personality that comes over into its wines.

Domaine d'Elise

Established in 1970, the Domaine d'Elise is located just outside the town of Chablis in the commune of Milly. It was purchased by the current owner Frédéric Prain in 1982. The domaine's vineyard is situated directly above the south/southeastern facing Premier Cru Côte de Lechet vineyard. It is unusual in that its entire 13 hectares are in one parcel. Interestingly, the appellation laws have divided the vineyard into two equal plots of Chablis Villages and Petit Chablis. The soils are quite poor with an abundance of surface stones, particularly on the top of the hill. A great deal of pruning is done throughout the growing season in order to limit yields to 45/50 hl per ha. Harvesting is done as late as

M. Prain allows the must to settle before fermentation (débouillage) which is done in stainless steel lined cement vats that are temperature controlled. Both wines go through a malolactic fermentation and then are matured on their lees; the Petit Chablis for seven months and the Chablis for 10 months. M. Prain selects the best vats to bottle under his own label and sells 50% of his production "en vrac" to negociants. His wine is fined before being bottled.

Rapel and Cachapoal, Chile

Altair Winery

St. Emilion Grand Cru Chateau Dassault, Chilean wine giant San Pedro and consultant Pascal Chatonnet are set to release their new Chilean wine.

Both Sideral and Altair, the fruit of the joint venture between the Dassault family, aeroplane-makers and owners of Ch. Dassault in St. Emilion and Chilean winemakers San Pedro, are excellent and has great aging potential. They have been excellent examples of Chile's reaction to great classic Bordeaux wine.

Wine		Vintage	Case Price	Regular Price
1 Sideral, Rapel Valley	RP 90	2006	HK$ 198.00	HK$ 235.00

Sideral is a wine rich and powerful with gorgeous garnet red notes. The nose is almost immediately ready, open and warm, with smokey notes and hints of hot spices that blend into a complex varietal composition including Carmenere and Cabernet Franc. Its heart incorporates fruit from both Maipo and Colchagua Valleys lending it a complexity that places it with the best Chile's premium wines. Whilst drinkable today, Sideral has the potential for several years of bottle-ageing.

2 Altair, Cachapoal Valley	RP 94	2005	HK$ 420.00	HK$ 495.00

Altair is a wine of exceptional character. Its broad shoulders are made up principally of the Cabernet from the steep surrounding hillsides with small proportions of Merlot for balance and Carmenere for a rustic touch of Chilean heritage. Its aroma is captivating, its color is deep and intense, and it packs powerful concentration, elegant structure, heaps of red fruits and hints of toasted pine, cedar and tobacco. Altair is wine of tremendous finesse whose elegance tames its brute force and then lingers through a long silky finish.

The reoen of this wine estate has been achieved through a successful blend of innovation, tradition and experience.

Chateau Meyre

This large domain, divided among forests, pasturage for cattle, and vines, has been in the same family for several generations (since 1810). The name Cap Léon Veyrin comes from two sources: the local place name Cap Léon - "lou cap" in the original gascon dialect- signifying the head or summit, the highest point in the area, to which was added the name of one of the vineyard parcels, Veyrin. A part of this vineyard is planted in clay and limestone soil (Cap Léon), while the rest draws its character from gravelly marl. Great efforts are taken with the growth and care of the vines as well as with the winemaking itself. In order to respect the careful matching of terrain and grape variety and to preserve the grapes' great potential quality, manual harvesting is done whenever possible and as weather conditions permit. A long fermentation followed by maturation in barrels, of which one-fifth are new each year, encourage the development of a quality wine with an extraordinary ageing potential. The entire harvest is bottled, none is sold in bulk.

Ch. Julien gives a classic style of Haut Medoc; Ch. Bibian one of the best-valued; Chateau Cap Leon Veyrin the most powerful.

Terroir de Courreges by Stephane Courreges

The 'Flagship' wine of Stephane Courreges is Terroir de Courreges, a Pauillac which comes with a piece of its land-a sample of soil, formed by deposit over time-from layers of pebbles, silt and sand-commonly known as Graves Garonnaise. Terroir de Courreges, from both 2008 and 2009 are Gold Medalists from Concour Bordeaux 2010. Representing the best efforts from Stephane Courreges, this wine gives classic Pauillac(blackcurrant, sweet spice, sandalwood and new leather) with probably the most 'silky' cab palate, pointing to fine, phenolic ripeness and structure. Rich on nose with a lot of fruit on palate covering the mineral edge, Terroir de Courreges 2008, AC Pauillac, is still sappy on palate which warrants a lot of reward on ageing though.

Domaine Manuel Olivier

Domaine Manuel Olivier was recently awarded Golden Burgundy Trophy, Best Young Winemaker. The Domaine was also awarded "Discovery of the Year 2010" by Bettane & Dessauves.

Regardless of the accolades and acclaims the Domaine has managed to get, maker Manuel Olivier's best quality is in his almost obsess ional quest for balance in his wines-the balance in the culture if the vineyard and its wine grower's know-how. Manuel Olivier was born to a family of farmers and is a farmer, whose passion and creativity has planted my thought to work for him for my little market without hesitation.

Azienda Agricola Casa Emma

In the heart of Classic Chiantishire, in the splendid scenery of the hills of San Donato in Poggio, Casa Emma can be found, at an altitude of 420m above sea level, surrounded by 34 hectares of land.

The 21 hectares cultivated with vineyards (mainly Sangiovese, about three hectares of Merlot, and small sections of black malmsey and canaiolo), and the three hectares of Olive groves and five hectares of Botanical park completely surround the historical farm house where one finds the wine making and maturation cellar. Then there is a series of areas used in the production process including our wine tasting room.

The Bucalossi family bought the company at the beginning of the 1970's from the Florentine noblewoman Emma Bizzarri, whose name remains attached to the property. Since then, we have been dedicated, with the patience and passion that agriculture demands, to the production of wine (Chianti Classico, Chianti Classico Reserve, Soloio and Vin Santo), oil, extra virgin oil, Grappa, vinegar, and a series of delicious gastronomic preparations: wine gelatine, rose syrup and cooked wine.

Our wines, exported worldwide, are enriched by the advice and mastery of the oenologist Carlo Ferrini, primarily because the passion for quality is at the base of our company's philosophy.

Bladen Winery

Bladen is a family owned and operated winery/vineyard producing a premium range of quality wines. These include a stunning Sauvignon Blanc along with Single Vineyard Pinot Gris, Riesling, Gewürztraminer, Pinot Noir and Merlot/Malbec. Bladen was established in 1989 with the desire to create a range of boutique wines that reflect the individuality and personality of our vineyard. Initially we became contract grape growers, and to better understand the local wine industry, we both worked at local wineries for several years. In 1997 the first wines were produced wine under the Bladen label.

Things have changed since those early days, we now have a small group of dedicated grape growers who supply us with quality fruit we need to keep up with demands for our sought after wines.

They are passionate about the wines we are producing, with a strong focus on environmental awareness in the vineyard to produce premium grapes. Their desire to produce quality fruit is foremost in their decision making from intense pruning and shoot thinning to ensure low crop levels, careful canopy management to ensure light exposure and even fruit ripening, through to the expert winemaking methods of their winemaker Simon Waghorn and his team of Sam Smail and Paul Gordon.

Toro, Spain

Palacio de Villachica

A wine cellar located in the province of Zamora, just a few kilometres from Toro. Its luxury spectator is the river Duero, that lies right opposite the wine cellar. The zone is extremely cold in the winter months with high temperatures in the summer. The main variety in this vineyard is the autochthonous variety of the zone, the "Tinta de Toro" (Toro Red Wine), similar to the Tempranillo variety but adapted to the climate and lands of Toro. A selection of the best grapes harvested by hand is made to avoid damaging the bunches. During the fermentation, there is a constant temperature control, the ripening is a long process and the pressing is not aggressive. Later the wine is transferred to French oak barrels to extract the maximum potential from the wine.

Weingut Dr. Hermanns, Vineyards Erdener Pralat, Erdener Treppchen, The Urziger Wurzgarten

The Riesling-Estate »Dr. Hermann« with more than 7 hectares of vineyards is managed by Rudi Hermann and his son Christian. Winegrowing has a tradition in the Hermann family of several hundred years. The present estate was created in 1967 when the renowned estate Joh. Jos. Christoffel Erben in Ürzig was divided.

In the following years the vineyards was steadily extended and with the construction of a large modern cellar premises production was moved from Ürzig to Erden.

The Hermanns concentrate on the production of Riesling wines on the steep rock slopes of the famous vineyards of the »Erdener Prälät«, »Erdener Treppchen« and the »Ürziger Würzgarten«. In all their vineyards they grow exclusively ungrafted Riesling stock which deliver the finest Riesling wines. Dr. Hermann's strenght, the fruity Spätlese and Auslese wines and the noble sweet wines consistently convince again in vintage 2009. They show an impressing concentrated, exotic primary fruit and they are despite of their opulent nature always still elegant. This especially is the case for an amazing serial of four fine Spätlese wines. Two concentrated Trockenbeerenauslese are standing at the top of the range.

Sepp-Moser

The Moser family is one of Austria's grand, traditional viticultural dynasties. Since 1848, the knowledge of wine has been passed on from generation to generation.

Without a doubt, the most famous descendant of this family is the renowned viticulture pioneer Dr. Lenz Moser, who in the 1950s developed the high training system of the vine - the so-called "Lenz Moser system". Through this, he made the work in the vineyards easier, not only in Austria, but also in many other wine-growing countries.
